Russians Admit Evacuation

Troops

FIERCE BATTLING

Women And Children Are Reported Being Evacuated From Moscow

(BULLETIN)

MOSCOW, Oct. 13.—A furious battle raged in the Vyazma region west of Moscow today after German forces drove a wedge into Russian defenses there and captured Bryansk, further to the south.

After admitting evacuation of Bryansk by Soviet troops and the new Nazi advances around Vyazma, the Russian high command's noon communique today stated:

"Fighting continued throughout the night on the whole front. It was particularly fierce in the direction of Vyazma."

A supplementary war bulletin told of destructive Soviet counterattacks and also of sanguinary battles on the Leningrad front, in which hundreds of enemy troops were killed and quantities of war equipment destroyed.

Berlin Claims

(Editor's note: Dispatches from Berlin said German authorities claimed Chancellor Hitler's legions had pushed far beyond both Vyazma and Bryansk. The German press claimed panzer spearhead troops were "already within sight of Moscow.")

(Berlin admitted the Soviets were still trying to break out of the iron rings in the Bryansk and Vyazma sectors, but it was claimed these efforts were repulsed in battles that cost the lives of many thousands of Russians.)

(The German high command announced both Vyazma and Bryansk are "already behind our front line.")

(BULLETIN)

LONDON, Oct. 13.—Aided by good flying weather, the R. A. F. today renewed its day and night offensive against Germany and Nazi-occupied territory with a new series of attacks following last night's slashing assaults on the Reich.

This afternoon several squadrons of bombers, escorted by fighting planes, passed over Ramsgate en route to the French coast to give that area a new pasting. In what the London Evening Standard termed one of the biggest night offensives of the entire war, British bombers last night and early today poured tons of bombs on widespread targets in Germany.

Second Report Tuesday

Clipping off their solicitation assignments with clock-like regularity, Community Chest campaigners buckled down today to get a sizeable sum ready for their second breakfast report rally in The Castleton Tuesday at 8 o'clock.

The Chest office said more than $15,400 was "reported in" at the first breakfast session last Friday, and indications from the workers pointed to a much greater slice coming in tomorrow.

The goal of the drive, opened a week ago tonight, is $65,000. While solicitors called on prospects—and, incidentally, got a welcome seldom enjoyed—before the campaign high command went about its multitudinous tasks and watched progress of the city-wide visitation in stores, homes, offices and plants.

Larger Reports Expected

Tomorrow morning more of the industrial concerns will make their reports, and those are counted upon to help form the sizeable figure anticipated. No one would estimate what total might be reached.

Confession In Miley Murders Police Report

(International News Service)

FORT WORTH, Tex., Oct. 13.—Authorities looked today to an 18-year-old newsboy to add what they said might be a "clinching" piece of evidence against Thomas Penney, 32, an ex-convict whose confession to a part in the robbery-slaying of Marion Miley, nationally famed golf star, and her mother, was claimed by police to have solved the murders.

In his confession, which police said he had signed after eight hours of grilling, Penney named his accomplice Robert Anderson, 36, also an ex-convict, and operator of a Louisville, Ky., night club.

Anderson, taken into custody at Louisville, denied any part in the crime, or any knowledge of it. Penney, when arrested, was driving a car allegedly traced to Anderson, but the Louisville man said the car had been stolen on Oct. 1.

It was in connection with Penney's car that Kentucky authorities, here to return Penney to Lexington, Ky., scene of the slayings on

Forbes Field

Approximately four to five hundred men from Lawrence county, attended the Eucharistic Rally, Sunday evening, held at Forbes Field, Pittsburgh, bringing together a gathering of 75,000 Catholic men, who assembled for prayers and to renew their faith to God.

The ceremony, impressive in every sense of the word, was conducted with the illumination of candles, distributed to the men as they entered the field.

The Rev. Fr. V. J. Stanciewicz, pastor of the SS. Philip and James' church, and local director of the Holy Name Society, was in charge of the local arrangements, and thanks all the priests of the county for assisting him. Men from this city and surrounding vicinities traveled in buses, trains, and private autos.

The local group of men attending was only a small part of the great mass demonstration at the field, but nevertheless, it was representative of loyal and true Catholics who attended to express religious devotion, in the hope to gain spiritual benefit.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—The United States navy today is bringing to an American port its first "prize" since it received instruction to "capture or destroy" all Axis vessels found on the American side of the Atlantic.

Where the navy is taking the Nazi-controlled Norwegian ship it captured off the coast of Greenland, remains a naval defense secret. However, the Norwegian vessel, with an armed U. S. naval party aboard, is believed to be nearing North Atlantic shores under the escort of an American warship.

State and navy department officials declined to predict what will happen to the German Gestapo agent and 20 odd Norwegian accomplices who assisted him in reaching Greenland and establishing a secret Nazi radio station in that American

Planes Collide In Air; Two Die As One Crashes

Probe Is Launched Into Dual Fatality Near Harrisburg
Sunday

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 13.—The civil aeronautics authority and the Pennsylvania Motor police day were conducting an investigation of the crash of a light airplane at nearby Elizabethtown which claimed the lives of Claude Judy, Jr., 20, the pilot, and pretty 19-year-old Jane Stoner, both of Middletown.

According to Eugene Gish, 15, of Elizabethtown, R. D. 1, eye-witnesses to the crash, the plane plummeted 300 feet into the ground yesterday afternoon after its tail assembly was struck by another plane piloted by Bertram A. Tripp, Elizabethtown.

The youth said Judy's plane faltered in mid-air and then plunged to the ground. Tripp landed his plane without mishap.

Preliminary inspection of the tangled wreckage revealed the force of the crash was so great that the motor was forced into the cabin against the occupants.

Tripp, however, told investigators the accident occurred when Judy veered too close and brushed his plane. He added that the right stabilizer and rudder on Judy's plane were jammed and apparently caused the crash.

High Officials To Urge Arms For U. S. Ships

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—Four of the administration's highest officials appear before the House foreign affairs committee today to tell why a bill should be passed authorizing the arming of American merchant ships, as non-interventionists sought to heal a split in their ranks.

Called to testify for President Roosevelt's urgent request to place guns on the vessels were Secretary of State Cordell Hull; Secretary of the Navy Knox, Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operation, and Admiral Emory Land, chairman of the maritime commission.

Hull, who has urged that the neutrality act be scrapped, was expected to declare Adolf Hitler has embarked upon unrestricted submarine warfare and that American ships must be protected.

Committee members said Land would say that sped in arming ships is necessary because it is planned to put 135 American ships into service carrying war supplies to the British in the Middle East.

With the Democratic majority of the committee putting a ban on public cross-examination of witnesses, some Republicans boycotted the hearings. Reps. Fish, N. Y., ranking Republican, and Tinkham, Mass., said they would not attend.

Streamliner On B & O. And Freight Train In Accident

THREE PASSENGERS AMONG INJURED

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 13.—Three passengers and a conductor on the Baltimore & Ohio's crack National Limited Streamliner were injured early today in a collision with a freight train six miles northwest of Wellston, O.
Railroad officials at Cincinnati said the conductor was C. A. Daniels of Chillicothe.
The accident happened, they said, when the switch operator in a watchtower failed to line up a switch on a siding for the east bound freight train. The Streamliner bound from New York to St. Louis, had received a warning in time to reduce speed to eight miles an hour at the time of the crash.
The Limited was delayed until a new locomotive could be obtained from division headquarters at Chillicothe. The freight train included many cars of oil headed for eastern seaboard cities.

GERMANY CLAIMS 'PANICKY EXODUS' IN MOSCOW NOW

took the view the German offensive, while still menacing, had definitely slowed down.
On the basis of previous "blitz" campaigns carried out by the German armies, the troops mercilessly converging on Moscow from various points along the 750-mile battle-front presumably could reach the capital in a week or less.
May Pass Capital
Once again, however, there were indications the Germans might pass Moscow by on the theory its usefulness as a capital and a rallying-point of morale would be vitiated by appearance of huge Nazi legions to the east between Moscow and the Urals.
In this connection, German authorities expressed belief that Premier Josef Stalin probably would remain in Moscow until the "last minute" despite present "exodus" for fear his own abandonment of the capital would result in complete Russian morale collapse.
Hundreds of thousands of Russians lie dead on the Vyazma battlefield, it was said, and military spokesmen declared this campaign, heralded as the greatest and bloodiest in all the history of warfare, was nearing its end.
They declared the triumphant Nazi forces, for the first time since the Russo-German war began, are storming forward in a frontal assault "likely to end miles east of Moscow on the central front and on the Caspian in the south."

Another Offensive
Berlin authorities also said that shortly after the central push began, German armies on the Walдай Heights also opened an offensive which quickly pierced fortified enemy lines and swept rapidly forward.
All along the front, it was asserted, the German advance repeatedly has reached its assigned day-by-day objectives hours ahead of schedule.
This was regarded in Berlin as an indication the German forces have pushed far inland east of the previous battle line.
These advance units were declared to be once again ignoring major cities such as Moscow, Kharkov and Kalinin but to be pushing on to trap any remaining Soviet formations before they can escape across the Volga river.
Authorities said they assumed the Nazi spearheads already are within marching distance of Moscow. "But they declared it more important from the German viewpoint to cut off all avenues of escape in the vast radius east of the Red capital.
The high command communicate issued at noon today said operations on the eastern front are progressing "according to plan."

STOCKHOLM SAYS BRITISH FORCES REACH ARCHANGEL

rapidly-advancing German armies has become admittedly grave, there has been a rising clamor in press, parliamentary and public circles in London for a British invasion of the continent to relieve the pressure on the Soviet Union.
British military authorities have taken the attitude that neither men nor supplies are yet amassed in sufficient quantities in the British Isles to permit any new British expeditionary force. Britain failed in two previous assaults on continental soil, having been driven out of France at Dunkirk and out of Norway at Andalsnes.
Landing of British troops at Archangel or elsewhere on the White Sea of Soviet Russia would represent an undertaking daring in the extreme but might prove of immense value with the Russo-German campaign in its present phase.
Archangel itself lies at the extreme eastern tip of the Great Northern Sea, 700 miles due northeast of Moscow. Another likely landing place might be at the Bay of Kandalaksha at the northwestern extremity of the White Sea.
British troops landing in sufficient numbers in the latter area might alleviate the German-Finnish threat to vital Leningrad. Kandalaksha lies 600 miles north and slightly east of the besieged one-time Czarist capital.

Encouraging to drive heads 'was news that many organizations employees were giving at least one day's pay—and many were giving more.

Budget Distribution
This morning M. G. Matheny, president of the Chest Board, announced the following as the proposed distribution of the $65,000 to be raised in the campaign:

Boy Scouts	$ 6,361.50
Girl Scouts	3,872.65

Jamestown Hospital	11,063.00
New Castle Hospital	8,299.25

Y. M. C. A.	11,063.00

Chicken Thief Is Fatally Wounded

ERIE, Pa., Oct. 13.—District Attorney Burton Laub said today he would not press charges against Roy Christoph, who fatally wounded Frank Sawicki, 48, Sunday, as the latter was looting Christoph's chicken coop.
Christoph told police he caught Sawicki in the act of taking chickens from the coop and fired once at the ground to scare the intruder. Sawicki was wounded in the right leg. He died an hour later from shock and loss of blood in St. Vincent's hospital.

Nazi Propaganda Probe May Develop

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—A full scale Dies committee investigation into asserted "subtle" Nazi propaganda in the United States loomed today as one member of the group publicly urged a series of probes.
Declaring that German inspired propaganda now far exceeds that of the British, Rep. Thomas (R.) N. J., disclosed that he will ask the committee to investigate "the duping of thousands of well meaning Americans" and "Nazi inroads into our army and navy."
Thomas also asserted that communists, too, are seeking to make inroads into key positions in America, and declared he will insist that the committee does not relax its vigilance against this assertedly un-American group.

FURIOUS BATTLE REPORTED RAGING IN VYAZMA AREA

and Nazi military authorities declared the "back of the Red army has now been broken beyond repair."
"So far," said the high command, 200,000 Russians have been captured in the new battles of annihilation on the central front, while military authorities in Berlin estimated that by the end of this week more than 3,000,000 Russians will be prisoners and about another 2,000,000 dead.

Recapture Reported
Meanwhile, both the London Daily Telegraph and Daily Express reported from Stockholm that the Russians were reported to have recaptured Vyazma after a terrific 12-hour battle and that the hammer and sickle banner was hoisted over the smashed wreckage of the communal house in the center of the ruined city.
(These accounts said German Gen. Von Hoth's panzer legions retreated into the wooded hills six miles west of Vyazma, where they reformed and launched a new offensive which is still in progress.)
(The London Daily Herald said women and children not needed for essential industries were evacuating Moscow all day yesterday. This report added German paratroopers landed three times on the highway between Vyazma and Moscow behind the Russian lines but each time were speedily "mopped up and wiped out.")

Today's supplementary Russian war bulletin said that on the southwestern part of the front counter-attacking Soviet forces destroyed 120 enemy trucks loaded with ammunition, 80 motorcycles and killed 500 German troops on another part of the front.
In still another sector, it was stated, Russian planes destroyed 10 German Junkers aircraft and damaged many other German planes during a raid on an airfield. Many tanks and 100 enemy trucks also were said to have been destroyed by the Red air force.
At the approaches to Leningrad, this bulletin added, a Russian tank unit destroyed 13 enemy anti-tank guns and 14 heavy machine guns and killed 400 men.

protectorate. However, it was pointed out in official quarters that the United States is under no obligation to treat the captured Gestapo agent and his Norwegian accomplices as prisoners of war, since no state of war exists between this country and Germany or Norway.
Therefore, the captured group is liable to prosecution for illegal entry into an American defense zone, and illegal operations therein. State department officials said no decision has been reached yet as to what shall be done to the captured group. If not brought to trial for illegal operations in Greenland, the group is likely to be interned for the duration of the war.
It is considered unlikely that any diplomatic protest will be made to Germany over the incident. This government takes the position that diplomatic notes to Berlin these days serve little useful purpose.

There's only one way, Hitler. When men had rather die than live as slaves, you can hold them down only with six feet of earth.

FAITH PAY FOR WHAT YOU NEED

When we arrange for the different kind of material and equipment needed to take care of a funeral, we have nothing covered up in the price quoted for same, that a family has no need of.
In other words, we have no equipment that is used at every funeral and charged in with the price of the funeral, unless it is absolutely necessary that the family need that equipment.
Therefore, there is quite a savings a lot of times, between the price of funerals, where the same kind of casket is being used.

COMBATING PROPAGANDA

WHEN hemispheric solidarity was accepted in principle in August of last year in Havana by the heads of the foreign offices of twenty-one American republics, that solidarity existed in principle solely. It was actuated by fear of ultimate axis aggression affecting the Americas.

That solidarity has since then taken on substance justifying its name, but from the outset it has been attacked by the axis as a cunning plan of the United States directed at hemisphere control from Washington. By radio, by garbled news services furnished free to the South American press, Hitler has continuously endeavored to sow discord in the nations to the south. Further, he has sought to disseminate fear of reprisals on the assumption that German arms would ultimately triumph.

The inevitable consequence has been a determination by the United States to offset this propaganda of its own. Such counter-propaganda would be hopelessly ineffective were it to consist mainly of categorical denials of the axis outpourings. Denials, however frequent, never catch up with affirmations.

What Washington is doing is to offer a subsidy for the furnishing to Latin American countries by radio and otherwise of genuine, trustworthy news, news so palpably ungarbled as to carry credence in itself.

But American effort to counteract German propaganda goes farther than Latin America. Balancing Nelson Rockefeller as coordinator of Inter-American affairs is Col. William J. Donovan, with the title of Coordinator of Information, whose special charge is counter-propaganda in axis territory. His efforts are characterized as a "psychological war" to sabotage so far as possible the efforts of the axis in conflict. So, counter-propaganda, as it is taking shape, is essentially two-headed, save for the fact that the State Department may lay down lines of policy that must be adhered to.

Of what Colonel Donovan is doing, the nation, for obvious reasons, knows less in detail than about the work of the Rockefeller agency. The latter not only will make use of short wave service by both the National and Columbia systems, at government expense, but also is conducting its "good neighbor" campaign in Latin America through the news of newsreels, cultural motion pictures, news letters and magazines.

This war, as concerns the United States, departs in many respects from the pattern of the World. In that contest the dissemination abroad of American opinion was controlled by the Committee on Public Information, of which George Creel was the head. That organization, to be sure, was created only after the United States became a belligerent. In the event that the present duplex system should develop rivalry or conflict, closer coordination may be looked for.

SAVINGS OR TAXES

There is argument in Washington as to whether the new proposals for a vast broadening of the social security system constitute an adoption of the British "forced savings" system or are merely measures to raise tax revenue which the government can use as it pleases.

Under the forced savings system, sometimes called a "separation wage," the design is to repay the money to individual savers just as they paid it in. But apparently the other plan is not founded on the basis of contributions at all. It is argued in some high administration quarters that social security savings should be doled out on the basis of need and not on the basis of individual contribution.

However Congress works it out, the program is expected to raise $10,000,000,000 in a period of two years. If the money is not repaid to contributing individuals who are employed but is distributed among the unemployed, it will prove to have been not individual savings but individual taxes. Americans who immemorably have been putting by something on their own account will find themselves putting by something for others whom the government designates to draw upon.

EXPERTS ON MOSCOW DRIVE

Most, if not all, of the swivel-chair war experts who write for the newspapers predict that Hitler will be unable to take Moscow this fall. The Reds deserve a better break.

The experts have been wrong just about 100 per cent in this war to date. They predicted the Maginot Line would hold. They said France had the best army in the world. When Hitler started his invasion of Russia, they said it would be all over in three weeks.

Are the experts wrong again, or is it possible for them to make one right guess if they guess often enough, and if so, is this it?

The news from Russia is discouraging, but the Hitler hordes are not in Moscow, they are not in Leningrad, and the big snows will soon be due in Russia. That must be what the experts use as a basis for their guess this time—the forthcoming snow. And who knows? Perhaps it will prove to be a more reliable index than the Maginot Line or the "best army in the world."

The suspicion must also be entertained that the experts have been reading about Napoleon's capture of, and retreat from, Moscow. If Russian snow could do that to Adolf Bonaparte, surely it can do as well in disposing of Napoleon Hitler, or—as the experts would say—vice versa.

The Screwballs of America, Inc., have elected to membership the parachutist who picked on a rock spire as a landing place. He ought to be president.

It is said that Hitler now expects to spend the winter in Russia. A lot of people we know of wouldn't mind if he spent the rest of his life there.

The relative calm existing in the Pacific may indicate that a gasoline shortage is preventing the Japs from going places.

American cigarettes cost $3 a pack in Italy. That's a mark for our tax levies to shoot at.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph.D.

POOR SPELLERS MAY HAVE POOR VISION

The parent of a child who is a poor speller is inclined to think of some one, herself, her husband, or an uncle or aunt, who also is a poor speller. The conclusion then is that the child inherited his poor spelling. Even an occasional teacher will say this child was just born short in spelling.

This is a comfortable superstition on which one can easily shift all responsibility for the child's poor spelling. Sometimes, however, this doctrine proves a temporary boon to the child, saving him from nagging, scolding and punishment which he otherwise might get. Yet it doesn't help his spelling.

Of course, some children are slow learners in every subject, probably being born generally dull. But there is no scientific evidence that special disabilities as in spelling are inherited, barring certain physical limitations of hearing or vision. It is always well to have the vision and hearing of the poor speller or poor reader tested. The child with no physical handicaps who does well in one or several basic school subjects can, under proper guidance, learn to do well in any other basic subject.

How To Help

In trying to help a poor speller, see first that he knows clearly every letter of the alphabet and is familiar with the simpler phonetic sounds. If necessary, practice him on reading and spelling such words as bat, bag, boy, late, mate, rate, so he gets the drift of long and short vowels. Then have him practice on some combinations of consonants as bring, thing, sting.

The main job in learning to spell is to memorize mechanically the letters in the word in their proper order.

First have the child practice on a few short common words like month, chair, apple. Here are the main things to emphasize:

Have just one word before the child in clear bold letters, preferably in print. A good way is to type or print the word on a card, one to a card. Be very calm and serene yourself, using quiet tones, in order to induce calmness in him. Get him to look carefully at the word and pronounce it, then while still looking at the word, to name the letters in it in right order. Have him repeat this several times before he tries to spell it looking away. The main thing is to be sure he never spells it wrong. When words of several syllables are studied, show him how to break the word up into its syllables. He should attack not more than four or five words at a sitting and should often review those he has learned.

I go into this matter much more in detail in my "Home Helps for Poor Spellers," to be had without cost, by writing me at 235 East 45th Street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp.

Q. Is tomato juice a good substitute for orange juice for the baby?
A. Yes; but twice as much of it is needed to provide the required amount of Vitamin C. If canned juice is used, strain the amount to be used when the can is opened and keep it closely covered in a cool place.

The World and the Mud Puddles

BACK TO THE WOODSHED.

Although the administration in Washington is unduly frightening the people of this nation, yet the citizens will have to take what is handed out to them, with as good a face as possible.

Now the OPM (the Office of Production Management, if you don't know) is throwing out a few broad hints regarding things where the American husband and wife can begin some voluntary rationing of their own.

The OPM, as well as the other multitudinous Bureaus, talk a good deal about being patriotic, and this particular Bureau says that it will not be patriotic to buy either a yacht or two automobiles during this great "emergency." And the wife, though she may never have suspected it, nor the husband either, silk stockings, false creams, negligees and permanent wave equipment all have a place in the nation's armory. The Bureau hints that those things will be curtailed.

Just what the people engaged in the manufacture and sale of all these articles, which seem to be very necessary for the making of airplanes, war machinery, ammunition and all that sort of thing, are going to do for a living, the government does not say. Perhaps the President expects to ask Congress for a few more billion dollars to put them on the government payroll.

It is all right to prepare for the worst—a thing that this nation ought to have been doing long ago with compulsory military training and the building of all the necessary equipment before the war came to our shores. But this nation was doing just what England and France were doing when Germany was building her great War Machine—merely sitting on the sidelines watching the thing going on and doing nothing about it whatsoever. We were very busy handing out dimes to our indigent citizens, encouraging

Sun sets tonight, 5:24; sun rises tomorrow, 6:09.

The biggest fool we know of is the bird who tells women they are setting fat. Also telling them they are boggled.

A woman heard considerable noise in her back yard and looked out and saw her 5-year-old daughter holding the cat by the tail. "Whatever are you doing honey?" she asked. "Put that cat down right away." "I'm not trying to hurt him," she replied. "But last night when daddy was playing cards I heard him say there was two dollars in the kitty and I just wanted to see if he was right."

NOT TAKING HER

The elderly spinster raised her night-capped head from her pillow and peered anxiously round the bedroom.

In the dim light she could see a burglar ransacking her wardrobe. She summoned all her courage, and with a dramatic gesture pointed to the door.

"Leave me at once," she commanded. "Excuse me, madam, but I had no intention of taking you," replied the burglar politely.

There are people who hope there are places no hotter than we have had here this fall.

Young Wife—William, is it true that money talks?
Husband—That's what they say, my dear.

Young Wife—Well, I wish you'd leave a little here to talk to me during the day. I get so lonely.

THE FIRST TURN

"Do you remember when we first met in the revolving doors at the Post office?"

"Yes, but that wasn't the first time we met."

"Well, no; but that's where we began going around together."

The reason some people are so very popular is because they are so very nice.

Some people don't care for home cooking. That's why they go to restaurants.

Anybody who feels that this country is not his country should go in search of one that suits him.

Being a society leader often looks like harder work than taking in a washing.

A chap we know was laid up in a California hospital when they had an earthquake there. He did not know it was an earthquake but thought it was the maid sweeping under the bed.

There was a time when the people in the south did not like to see a lot of soldiers from the north go there. It's different now. The soldiers that go there spend many thousands of dollars instead of going there to shoot.

Then there was the letter that arrived at the desk of the advice-to-the-lad editor: "Dear Editor: After becoming engaged to a fine young man, I was horrified to discover that he has a wooden leg! Shall I break it off?"

The most unselfish man today is he who gives the right of way.

Good Taste

Rev. E. E. Patent Office

"Please attack as emphatically as you can those so-called funny people who laugh at the slightest provocation. Their great laugh provokers are: A hat rolling into a mud puddle; the man who loses his balance and falls backward from his chair; the drunken man who makes a fool of himself in a public place or conveyance. Perhaps I have no sense of humor for such incidents do not strike me as funny."

G. B.

A sense of humor is an invaluable asset but when it becomes distorted it really is a definite liability especially to the victims of its heartless jokes. You are right! There is nothing funny in such misfortunes as you mention. If you will study them, you will find that people whose risibilities are so easily tickled are frequently lacking in dignity and intelligence. Children may be excused for lacking self-control, but adults are supposed to have sufficient mental development to refrain from any laughter that may hurt the feelings of others. The more refined people are the more control they have of all emotions, be they tears, laughter or anger. Anger should always be curbed. Laughter at the proper time is a joy to one's ears. Tears should be reserved for the privacy of the boudoir.

Question: We have recently moved into a new home and would like to have a housewarming. At what time should it take place, how many guests should be invited, and what should be served?—Hostess.

Answer: A housewarming is just like any other party, except that the guests should be taken through the house for inspection and bring gifts for the new home. So you had better have your house ready for close scrutiny, even your closets, before you plan your party. It may take place in the afternoon and you may serve tea, sandwiches and cakes; or you may serve cocktails and hors d'oeuvres. If you prefer, your party may be in the evening followed by a buffet supper of cold, sliced meats, a salad, rolls, coffee and cake. You may play bridge or any other game you prefer but I think your guests' time will be completely occupied with their inspection of your new home, conversation and perhaps dancing.

Question: Which arm should the host offer to the guest of honor when taking her in to dinner?—Henry.

Answer: His right arm.

What's What At A Glance

No Alarm Felt Over Japanese Spying
Jap Too Conspicuous To Do Much Harm
Japanese Press Held Ineffective HereBy CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 13.—Chief J. Edgar Hoover's Federal Bureau of Investigation has been doing its best to stir up a lot of public suspicion of Japanese undercover work, propaganda, spying, and sabotage planning in the United States, for the obvious reason that it's anxious for tips concerning such activities.

There's an obvious reason, too, for the fact that the FBI evidently isn't succeeding very well in stirring up much of an alarm on the subject.

The reason plainly is that a Jap in this country is too conspicuous for many folk to believe that he could operate long as a secret agent without being spotted. A skillfully disguised Nazi, Fascist or Palangist might get away with it indefinitely, and so could a Communist—though Communists count for a great deal less, now that the Soviets are lined up with the democracies. A Jap in our midst, though, needs a coat of paint to fool anybody, and even that isn't overly convincing.

It's true that second and third generation Japs are pretty numerous in parts of the United States and some of 'em are employed in industries where perhaps they could do a certain amount of sabotaging. A Mongolian could plant a bomb or chuck a handful of grit into a piece of machinery as mischievously as anybody. It doesn't seem, however, as if he could be an efficient snooper for information for any length of time without being caught at it.

The fact is, of course, that Japs are thicker in Hawaii than anywhere on our mainland, and the Hawaiian whites don't act in the least afraid of 'em, as I know from having visited that island and discussed the question with plenty of people. Their story is that their Japs left Japan because they didn't like it there and wouldn't be assimilated by Nippon for anything.

Japs Press Ineffective

The Japanese press, right at home, undoubtedly is, indeed, trying to propagandize us, with stories, in its own columns, to the effect that Britain and Russia are figuring on a separate peace with the Axis, leaving us holding the sack. What's published, though, in such newspapers as Tokyo's, Kobe's and Osaka's, in their peculiarly hectoring way, at all copiously read on our side of the Pacific. A little of its translated and gets into print here, but to say that it amounts to propaganda, so far as we're concerned, would be to exaggerate slightly—up to 100 per cent.

Anyway, what the Japanese press says, in its own columns, is something the FBI can't do anything about.

As for Jap secret emissaries influencing our American papers, there aren't any. There are a few Jap correspondents here, but they send stuff home; don't try to deliver any on this side of the ocean. They do a little chatting with American scribes but the latter know 'em as just what they are. There's nothing surreptitious about 'em.

Admiral Nomura, the Mikado's ambassador in Washington, naturally makes out the best case he can for Nippon, but the admiral verges on being pro-American. Nobody ac-

HOMEWARD BOUND

Now it's this way: There's a tug-ging at the tail of a sailing ship. Any-though here it's very lovely homeward bound today we are. Notwithstanding plans to linger by ourselves from duties free. There's a grandson and his sister that we've simply got to see.

We were going to wait the autumn with its flame of red and gold. We had planned to keep the cottage till the weather got too cold.

But our hearts won't let us do it and it's plain as plain can be. There's a grandson and his sister that we've simply got to see.

There's a curious sort of teaching found in books upon the shelves. Which informs all trusting readers that must live to suit themselves.

"Live your own lives," shout the writers, and I wonder if could they.

With a grandson and his sister tugging at them, night and day,

So it's this way: 'Tis the tugging and the aching we can't stand. And we're homeward bound this minute though it isn't as we'd planned.

But we're homesick and we're lonely and it's plain to her and me. There are loved ones in the city that we've simply got to see.

One of the shipments designed for Great Britain is a large collection of guns.

The will not be ordinary guns manufactured for the army, but a collection of weapons taken away from burglars, hold-up men, murderers and assorted gangsters by various Federal authorities.

Many of these are machine guns that were used in famous under-world battles.

Many of the weapons are of German make—some of them the finest Mauser and Luger pistols.

And, by some strange quirk, one of those guns may kill the very man who made it.

Here, truly, is a case of chickens coming home to roost!

1777—Joseph Emerson, clergyman and educator, at Hollis, N. H. He opened in 1816 at Byfield, Mass., a seminary for young women. A seminary, a feature of this school was the wide range of its curriculum in a day when few subjects were thought to be suitable for the feminine mind.

1851—Charles Sprague Pearce, artist at Boston. Among his best known paintings are "The Decapitation of St. John the Baptist," "A Prayer," and "The Return of the Flock." He also did some notable decorative work for the Congressional Library at Washington.

1892—Seymour Parker Gilbert, lawyer and financial expert, at Bloomfield, N. J. After serving in the Treasury Department as assistant secretary, he became permanent agent general for reparation payments from Germany under the Dawes plan in 1924. He resigned his reparations post in 1930 and became a partner of J. P. of J. P. Morgan and Company.

Illuminating Ideas

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.

TWO scintillating schemes, which have aroused something less than enthusiasm among those who consider them from a detached angle, made their appearance in Washington last week. They were projected in somewhat nebulous form and appear at the moment rather to baffle those who provided the slightly premature publicity.

ONE of these is the plan, accredited to Col. William J. Donovan, "Coordinator of Information," to furnish the President and other top officials with huge internally illuminated globes into which, when they peer, they can see at a glance all the major facts about the war, all properly proportioned in technical pictures. Thus they will be spared the bother of reading a lot of tiresome reports. It seems very entertaining, indeed, and we are told by Mr. Krock, of the New York Times, that geographers, historians, economists, military and naval experts, sound and color engineers and newspapermen are all concentrating on the idea.

SOMEHOW, this does not seem like Colonel Donovan. Somehow, it does not fit in with his record as a lawyer, a soldier and unofficial diplomat. This business of relieving the tired top officials of the burden of reading dull reports and inventing illuminated globes through which the course of the war can be made clear to them in color without the weary routine of wading through a lot of words—somehow, that hardly appears the kind of thing the colonel was supposed to do—or that he would care about doing.

Huge Crowd Attends Eucharistic Congress

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 13. — The Holy Name society's third annual Eucharistic Congress, which brought 75,000 Catholics from 430 parishes in the Pittsburgh diocese to Forbes field for a public demonstration of their faith, was considered a marked success today.

Amid all the pomp and glory of the Catholic church, the immense throng repeated the pledge of the Holy Name society, re-dedicating their lives to God and country and praying for a "just and lasting peace."

The outdoor services reached a colorful climax as all flood lights were extinguished and the field became a shimmering wave of lighted candles in the hands of each and every worshipper. Benediction—public adoration of the blessed sacrament—followed, with the twinkling flames of the candles providing the only light.

The Most Rev. Hugh C. Boyle, bishop of the Pittsburgh diocese, led the members of the Holy Name society in their pledge, and then spoke briefly. He mentioned the western world's hope for peace, and recalled the teachings of the saints in declaring the church will forever prevail against all material forces.

"Empires will crumble, and dynasties will fall into decay and disappear where no one knows where, but the immortal line of teachers endures forever," the bishop said.

The Most Rev. Bernard J. Shell spoke too, reminding his listeners that "our soul is the temple of the living God."

Other prelates who participated in the solemn ceremonies were the Most Rev. Ralph L. Hayes, rector of the closed North American college of Rome, and the Rt. Rev. Alfred Koch, archbishop of St. Vincent's archdiocese, at Latrobe.

Delegates Return From Harrisburg

Awards Made To Lawrence Countians At State Sabbath School Convention

The last of the Lawrence county delegates who attended the State Sunday School association convention in Harrisburg last week returned home Saturday afternoon.

The last day of the convention the John Wanamaker Service Medals were presented to 50-year veteran teachers, and in this list were two from Lawrence county, John Richardson from the First Congregational Sunday school, and Mrs. Jennie Rapson Wilson from the Reformed Presbyterian Sunday school. As neither of these were present at the convention, these were brought back and will be appropriately presented to them in Lawrence county.

Harry E. Paisley of Philadelphia was re-elected president of the State Sunday School association, and practically all of the officers were re-elected, there being but few changes. The 1942 convention will be held in Uniontown.

Young King Michael Would Like To Wed

Would Emulate His Father Who Gave Up Throne Once For Lupescu

(International News Service)

LONDON, Oct. 13.—Just as his father once gave up the Rumanian throne for red-haired Magda Lupescu, the London Daily Express said today, so young King Michael would like to put the cares of state behind him and marry 18-year-old red-haired Irene Malaza.

According to the Express, Michael has offered his abdication to Rumanian Premier Ion Antonescu in the belief marriage would be more pleasant than a seat on the throne. But Chancellor Hitler "personally intervened and temporarily averted" the young monarch's plan, according to the Express.

Young Michael is now serving as Rumanian king for the second time in his life. The first time was when he was a child and his father, King Carol, went off to Paris with Mme. Lupescu.

That interlude ended one night when Carol flew back to Bucharest and resumed the kingship. But a year ago last month the Iron Guard stage a coup d'état and Carol abdicated in favor of Michael and fled. Rumania then entered the axis sphere and German troops entered the country in October 1940.

The Great Game Of Politics

of the brilliant young literary lights who adorn his staff. Or, possibly, it may have come from Capt. "Jimmy" Roosevelt, who recently became his assistant, and whose megalomaniacal career easily may have developed in him both taste and talent for technicolor propositions. In some quarters there is a disposition to be derisive about this dazzling idea; to regard it as a rather juvenile exhibition of misdirected zeal. At any rate, it has the merit of novelty. Whether it is ever put into operation seems uncertain. It also seems uncertain that it were it would greatly help in our policy of aiding the British to crush Hitler.

THE other scheme is a new Federal agency—the "Office of Facts and Figures" which, it is announced, the President is about to create and which the erudite and attractive Mr. Archibald MacLeish is to be asked to head. There is some mystery about whose idea this is, too. Certainly it did not come from Mr. MacLeish, whose talents, great as they are, would not seem to run in this direction. It is stoutly asserted that the new agency is not to be a super-publicity or propaganda affair. It is not to interfere with or supersede any of the numerous existing publicity and propaganda bureaus. These are to continue to function as before. Yet, the new board is to co-ordinate all these publicity activities, and see "that the American people get the facts."

THE scheme is a little hard to grasp. There already exists in the defense organization the largest, the most elaborate and expensive publicity bureau any government has ever had. It is headed by Mr. Robert Horton and will spend close to a million dollars this year. It reeks with high-powered press agents, radio experts and movie men. It supervises all the other publicity bureaus, and its job is to see "that the American people get all the facts". It actually published a weekly magazine with that end in view. All defense publicity is supposed to be directed by Mr. Horton, and all defense press agents were supposed to have been co-ordinated under him.

THEN, there is the Office of Government Reports, which, upon Presidential insistence, was given this year an appropriation of $1,500,000 with which to expand. Most persons would think that the expansion, under the able Mr. Lowell Mellett, might easily take over the somewhat hazy functions now proposed for the Office of Facts and Figures. Mr. Mellett, who incidentally, selected Mr. Horton for his job, is to be on the advisory board of the new agency. So, too, is Colonel Donovan, and various others, but, strangely enough, the whole thing is to be part of the Civilian Defense setup under Mayor LaGuardia. Press and radio representatives from the army and navy picked by him are already installed. These Mr. MacLeish will find on hand when—and if—he takes over.

IT is all very puzzling and no one seems certain how either the illuminated, technicolor globes or the new "OFF" will work—or whose bright ideas they really are. The one sure thing is that both proposals will add to the defense payrolls, already swollen to a size that makes the civilian war organization under Wilson seem absurdly small. Some facts and figures on that subject would be interesting. But it is unlikely that it is planned to purvey that kind of facts to the American people. Nor is it likely that the "OFF" will adopt another useful suggestion—to wit: that it compile for the American people a list of information and publicity employees now on the Government rolls, with their salaries and expenses. In addition, some estimate of how much of their product is a legitimate service and how much propaganda for bigger bureaus and increased appropriations would be welcome.

causes him of running a spy ring, as some German diplomats have been accused. Candidly, Ambassador Gastor Henri-Haye has done more conversational fixing in Washington in France's behalf than Ambassador Nomura has done in Japan's.

Gaston's account is that France hasn't betrayed the democracies but that the democracies betrayed the French, by failing to support 'em adequately.

Russians "Belong" Now

The British, it goes almost without saying, haven't had to do any American proselyting. Neither do the Russians have to do any at present, either. Until Herr Hitler happens on 'em there was no use in their trying to do any; they couldn't get 'emself listened to. At today's writing they find it unnecessary. The truth is that Axis propaganda and espionage are worse than wasted in Washington. At best they don't take. At worst the propagandists and espionage agents are liable to get the FBI after 'em.

British, and now Russian propaganda is wasted also. It doesn't do any harm, but neither does it do any good; we're converted already.

racketeers to start all sorts of trouble between Labor and Capital; speaking scornful words about the horse-and-buggy days, when men had some ambition to make a place for themselves and families in the business life of the nation and when the youth of the nation knew something about the discipline of the woodshed and the birch rod in the schools; when the parents had not gone crazy in allowing "self expression" and all that in the youth and raising class against class.

Now we have got to pay the Piper. We are going to lose much of our freedom unless something is done about it. But there is some encouragement in the whole matter, for out of all this may come a permanent system of military training of the youth of the nation when young men between the ages of eighteen and twenty-three will learn what it is to obey orders; learn what it is to observe regular hours and, in turn, having learned what real discipline is, will go back to the virtues of the horse-and-buggy-days and teach their children obedience and regular hours, preparing them for their work in life, to say nothing of what will await those youths in the training camps.

Youth Is Held For Investigation

Allegedly Attempted To Flee From Lawrence Garage Last Night

City detectives today were holding Dale Kline, a local youth, for investigation, the young man having been brought down by a "flying tackle" by a watchman, J. Henry Nelson, Martin street, when Kline attempted to escape from the Lawrence Buick garage last night. A companion escaped, police say.
However, the "flying tackle" while successful was painful to the watchman who was bruised and taken to the Jameson Memorial hospital for treatment.
In police court today Kline told Mayor Charles B. Mayne that a companion, whose name Kline said he did not know, offered to pay him for removing dust from the companion's car on the third floor while the companion cleaned the inside of the car.
Attaches learned the pair were in the building, investigated why Kline and his companion fled. Kline asserted he fled because he was frightened when the attaches came toward him with "flashlights popping." Kline claims they were in the building only a few minutes.
Police were called and got there as Kline raced down the ramp only to be brought down by Nelson.

Man Wounded After Argument

Frank Gargacz Of Harlansburg-Slippery Rock Road In Hospital

One hound dog, pedigree uncertain and whereabouts as vague, sent Frank Gargacz, 22, R. D. 1, Volant, to the New Castle hospital Sunday night about 5:30 when he was allegedly shot by Steve Gruca, 26, of the Harlansburg-Slippery Rock road. Gargacz is not seriously injured, a small calibre rifle bullet piercing him above the right knee.
Gruca came to the sheriff's office about 6 o'clock with the gun he had used and surrendered himself to Sheriff M. M. Ingham. He is in jail pending a preliminary hearing.
The fight occurred on the Gruca farm Sunday afternoon. Some weeks ago Gargacz ordered a hound dog from Kentucky, to be shipped by express. The dog was shipped but sometime after arrival here by express decided to see the world on his own.
Later, Gruca purchase a hound dog from Dog Catcher Jack Young and Gargacz has claimed it was the dog that had escaped from the express office.
On Sunday, according to Gruca, Gargacz and some brothers came to the Gruca farm and allegedly made some threats. Gruca claims he got his gun and ordered them off, but Gargacz tried to attack him, Gruca says. Gruca shot, wounding Gargacz.

Plan Signal For Jefferson Street At Wilmington Avenue

Council colleagues of Safety Director D. O. Davies, in council meeting today, agreed with Davies that some sort of traffic light to point out the proper route to New Wilmington should be located at North Jefferson street and Wilmington avenue. A stop sign already has been placed in North Jefferson street to warn of Wilmington avenue traffic.

Davies stated that the section is dark, and when rain falls upon the black top it becomes darker.
Mayor Charles B. Mayne said that the police department would immediately have some sort of a sign placed so persons enroute to New Wilmington would not drive into North Jefferson street.

Suspect Sabotage In Huge Fire At Big Rubber Plant

Loss Is Placed At $13,000,000

Eight Buildings Burn At Firestone Plant At Fall River, Mass.

HUGE SUPPLY OF RUBBER IS LOST

(International News Service)
FALL RIVER, Mass., Oct. 13.—With sabotage suspected as the cause, a five-pronged probe was under way today to determine source of a fire which caused $13,000,000 damage and dealt the country's national defense output a staggering blow in destruction of a backlog of rubber.

Twenty-five field agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the state fire marshal's office, police fire officials and insurance companies joined in the investigation.

Eight buildings burned at the Firestone Rubber Latex Products, Inc., one of them said to be the largest rubber warehouse in the country with the 120,000 tons contents alone valued at $5,000,000. Among the goods destroyed were gas masks, hospital supplies, raw material for machine gun belts and barrage balloons and other rubber products. For the past year carcases of crude rubber from ships and freight cars unloaded at the Firestone plant.

Eleven firemen were injured in the 14-hour battle and between 60 and 70 municipalities in Massachusetts and Rhode Island sent apparatus and men to aid the Fall River fire department in checking the blaze.

Pittsburghers Victims Of Crash On Route 19 Saturday Afternoon

Three persons were injured, one seriously, when an automobile driven by William J. Irvine of 907 Union avenue, North Side Pittsburgh, overturned on Route 19 just north of Portersville, Saturday afternoon. They were brought to the Jameson Memorial hospital here about 5 o'clock for treatment.

Mrs. Emma Crawshaw of Highview Terrace, Bellevue, suffered a broken collar bone and possible fracture of the ribs. Miss Nancy Wallace of 907 Union avenue, suffered contusions of the scalp, while Irvine had a slight laceration of the right ear. Mrs. Crawshaw is still in the hospital but the other two victims were discharged soon after being treated.

Picture In Paper Brings Identification By Clearfield County Man

(International News Service)
OIL CITY, Pa., Oct. 13.—"Sis" and "Sonny," the two "mystery children" abandoned at the Polk state school a week ago Saturday were reported to have been identified by state motor police in Clearfield county.

Clarence Purdie, a Curwensville saw mill operator, was quoted by police as saying that he recognized the children from newspaper pictures as his grandchildren, he claimed they were the son and daughter of Donald Purdie of Lloydsville, Cambria county.

Polk school officials were reported to have requested the Curwensville man to come to the institution to view the children first hand.

The children, aged three and four, were left the Venango county institution early in the morning of October 4 by an untraced automobile. Pieces of paper bearing only the nicknames "Sis" and "Sonny" were pinned to the youngsters' coats.

Telephone Manager Adds Chest Appeal

District Manager Baldwin Declares City Better Because Of It

PAUL J. BALDWIN

District manager Paul J. Baldwin of the Bell Telephone Co. feels the Community Chest plays an important part in the civic life of many citizens, and praised its New Castle performance highly.

Interviewed today, he said: "The aims and purposes of the Community Chest are, in my opinion, worthy of the careful attention of every individual in New Castle. We cannot overlook the fact that the services rendered by the agencies constituting the Community Chest help to make our city highly beneficial in keeping at a high level the morale of all citizens of a community."

The Community Chest gives us all an opportunity to contribute some of our earnings to help those who have not been so fortunate and to provide funds for carrying out the other numerous welfare objectives of the Chest. Now more than ever before, it is vitally essential that its work be prosecuted with the greatest vigor. We should all be ready to do our part to make this drive a success. I urge all to give liberally to this cause and to lend support in every other manner possible, to the attainment of the objectives of the Community Chest.

Central Christian Church Has Annual Rally Day—Homecoming Services

A plea in behalf of the Disciples of Christ's Million Dollar Emergency campaign was made Sunday morning by the Rev. Thomas Fletcher, missionary to the coke regions of Pennsylvania, when he spoke in Central Christian church at the annual rally day and homecoming services.

Highlighting the day's program was the homecoming service Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Opening with a song service, with Dave Lewis, choir director, as song leader and Clarence Frey as pianist, the program included a welcome by Thomas Phelps, a duet by Pauline Fredericks and Thelma Frey, a talk by the church pastor, the Rev. Sidney K. Bliss, who spoke at the Sunday school session also, an interesting history of the church presented by Miss Mary Scherger, and a quartet selection. Communications from the Rev. D. P. Shaffer to Meadville, Rev. and Mrs. Thomas B. Shearer of Phillipsburg, former pastors, and Elmer Frey in Albuquerque, New Mexico, were read by Miss Ruth Garrity. ### American Troops In Iceland Are Ready For Winter

(International News Service)
REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Oct. 13.—With the approach of winter the American forces guarding Iceland already are fully prepared today for the coming frigid Arctic blasts.

All camps housing the Americans are operating efficiently, a personal survey disclosed.

Because of its lack of recreational facilities, the Americans are tending to keep away from Reykjavik when they obtain leave.

Camp commanders reported that of 150 men given leave, only 20 came to the capital. The others preferred to remain at the camps, where recreational facilities are increasing and "movie huts" are being built.

Some of the Americans are doing a little grousing about this. One marine remarked: "We don't like the climate or the country. The scenery is beautiful, but it is difficult to make friends."

"We should have more recreation—not planned and supervised, but the type allowing every man a free hand within reason."

It is understood authorities already are planning greatly increased recreational facilities for the troops.

October 29 Will Be Donation Day At Almira Home

Plans are being made and interest is shown, committees state, for the annual Almira Home "Donation Day" set for Wednesday, Oct. 29, Chairman Mrs. W. Walter Braham states. Residents have always contributed willingly, and this year a new eagerness and the urge to "get started" is noted.

The amount of food required daily at the Almira Home, where aged women are residents, is rather large. Miss Rose Brown relates, who is in charge. It is estimated that approximately 200 pounds of sugar are used per month for the 44 guests who make their home there. Sixty loaves of bread are required per week; about five gallons or more of milk are used daily; two bushels of potatoes per week, and it requires about eight cans of fruit at each meal, in addition to jellies, preserves, etc.

Canned fruits, vegetables, staple groceries, flour, sugar, and other foods will be accepted at the Almira Home. If persons having any donations and no means of getting it delivered to the home will telephone 982, one of the committee will call and take same to headquarters.

Assisting Mrs. Braham will be Mrs. Ray Robinson, Mrs. C. E. Trainor and Mrs. James D. Crawford. It is hoped that New Castle folks will respond as graciously to this worthy cause as they have in past years.

Outstanding Men Head Chest Plans

Dr. Helling And Rev. Minter Long Identified With Community Service

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 13.—Dr. H. E. Helling and Rev. W. E. Minter, chairman and vice-chairman of the Community Chest Drive respectively are both outstanding citizens of the Community.

Dr. Helling came to Ellwood City in 1892 which is the year that the town was incorporated under the laws of the state and incidentally he can celebrate his 50 years of being a resident of Ellwood City along with Ellwood City's 50th anniversary next summer.

Graduating from medical college in 1909 Dr. Helling began his practice here immediately and has been serving the community faithfully ever since. He has been a member of the Health Board for the past 20 years, a member of the School Board for 15 years, connected with the local hospital since it was purchased from Dr. Drake and is on the hospital staff today. For the past four years he has served on the Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors, President of the Playground Commission and Chairman of the Infantile Paralysis Fund.

Dr. Helling makes a splendid leader of the Chest Drive because he himself has always given generously financially to all charitable causes here in Ellwood City and throughout the county, state and country.

Rev. Minter, vice-chairman of the Community Chest board, is completing 20 years of ministerial work. Coming here in 1927 from College Springs, Iowa, Rev. Minter in the past 14 years has played a very active part in all community activities such as civic committee work, member of the Library board, Lawrence County Sportsman activities. For the past five years he has served on the board of trustees at Westminster college and superintendent of missions for the Beaver Valley Presbytery.

Ellwood City is very fortunate to have such outstanding men to head the revival of the Community Chest and the efforts of these two men along with the rest of the chest board, team captains and workers should be rewarded with the chest going over the $25,000 goal.

LOOK BEFORE YOU DRINK

(International News Service) SOUTH LONDONDERRY, Vt.—The fate of a visitor to a local cheese factory recently should serve as a warning to thirsty citizens who visit cheese factories. The visitor spied what he thought was a keg of beer and acted quickly with a folding cup as an accessory. The keg contained rennet which is obtained from the lining of the stomachs of calves and is used to turn milk sour. The visitor was reported to be quite upset.

We see the trick in the 1942 cars. With a rubber shortage coming, the idea is to get us used to sleds.

The Indians called bees "white man's flies."

Our Building & Loan Associations have helped countless people to own their homes. Other financial institutions have helped countless people to bridge financial difficulties. (Remember how well our New Castle institutions protected our funds thruout the depression?) Our insurance companies and fraternal organizations have cushioned financial distress in the hour of bereavement. Our Red Cross has brought relief to millions in the moment of calamity.

In the field of government we have the obligatory form of Co-operation, and provide and protect ourselves with safe water, modern sanitation, fire and police facilities, and all else that goes to make up a representative community. No one can claim that the Co-operative ideal of government is not the best yet devised.

So we repeat our words that—

ANYTHING THAT CAN BE DONE WELL CAN BE DONE BETTER CO-OPERATIVELY

and that THE FINEST MANIFESTATIONS OF LIFE COME TO US OUT OF THE CO-OPERATIVE SPIRIT.

One of the manifestations of that spirit is the granting of credit. Don't abuse this privilege.

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

Take County Of Traffic Passing
Corner In WardCivic Club Sponsors Count By Boy Scout Troop—Results
Being Compiled

Under the sponsorship of the Seventh Ward Civic club, members of Mahoningtown Boy Scout Troop 4 took an accurate traffic count at the corner of North Liberty street and Madison avenue, Saturday.

Purpose of the count was to determine the number of cars and the number of people who cross this intersection, in both directions in the course of a day.

Results of the count are being compiled today by Civic club members, and the outcome will be announced later this week.

It is believed that this count will convince the state highway department that this traffic light is needed here and will cancel their recommendation that it be removed.

U. S. Navy Notes
Of Interest Here

Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox's recent announcement that members of the U. S. Naval Reserve will be released from active duty as soon as they can be spared has started to boom in Naval Reserve recruiting. In fact, enlistments in that branch of the service surpasses enlistments in the regular Navy during the first six days of October.

Reports of the Recruiting Division of the Bureau of Navigation show that during these six days 1,016 men entered the Naval Reserve as compared to 1,004 enlistments in the regular Navy. It is the first time enlistments in the Naval Reserve have topped those in the regular Navy since unlimited enlistments in the former branch were authorized on March 6, 1941.

In making his pledge to release Reservists as soon as possible Secretary Knox said, "All men now enlisting in the Naval Reserve will be retained on active duty throughout the period of the national emergency, but they will be released to inactive duty as soon after the emergency as their services can be spared, regardless of the length of time remaining in their enlistments."

This enables men who do not wish to make a career of the Navy but who want to serve their country during the national emergency, an opportunity to do so in the Navy. No distinction is being made during the term of this emergency between the man in the regular Navy and the man in the Naval Reserve.

Edward L. Hough, 306 North Cascade street and Alfred J. Jones, 661 High avenue, Sharon, Pa., made a short visit to their homes before leaving for the Naval Aviation Cadet training center at Jacksonville, Fla. Both young men successfully completed the elimination flight training course at the Reserve Aviation Base at Phila., Pa.

Word has been received that Henry C. Throop, 80 Oak street, Bessemer, Pa., has also completed the elimination flight training at Phila., Pa.

Niels Anderson, 72, is back in the Navy. He first enlisted in 1898 and went back to civilian life in 1929 as chief petty officer. He told recruiting officials at Chicago he wanted to enlist again; they gave him a physical examination and pronounced him in perfect shape. He was sent to the Great Lakes Training Station.

Local Soldier Is Chaffeur For General Marshall

Mrs. G. K. Pollock of 411 Park way, has received a letter from her son, Sergeant Charles (Mack) Pollock, of Battery F, 190th Field Artillery, stationed at Camp Shelby, Miss., telling her something about his stay in Camp Polk, Louisiana.

He did some chaffeur for the officials during the war maneuvers there recently.

For a week he drove for Mr. Snyder of Pennsylvania, chairman of the Congressional committee of appropriations, then for General Herr of Washington, D. C., chief of cavalry, and during the last two days, chaffeur for General Marshall, chief of staff of the U. S. Army.

He was loud in his praise of the splendid treatment accorded him during his stay there.

Sergeant Pollock states he may get a furlough to get home in about two weeks, and hopes it will be fifteen days. He asked his folks to say "hello" to all his friends here.

Enclosed in his letter was a splendid picture, taken from the air, of Camp Shelby, and he had marked the location in which Battery F was housed. There are about 70,000 men camped there.

Daily Dozen

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Gerontology, the science of aging, is very young.

Its importance is apparent with increasing number of old persons.

There are 9,000,000 people 65 years old or older in this country.

A large and growing number of these suffer "degenerative" diseases. They are not in good health and are prematurely disabled thereby.

This tends toward a serious economic crisis.

Reduction of many children's diseases has raised the average age.

Aging is a process which really starts at birth.

We cannot stop it, but we may modify some of its bad consequences.

Youth prepares to become an adult, the adult must prepare for senescence.

Guidance in such preparation is called prophylactic geriatrics.

This is a major obligation of American medicine.

TEST DRIVERS
HERE TUESDAYPractice Driving, Learn Motor Laws, Prior To Test,
Good "Tip"

Persons who desire to operate a motor vehicle legally in Pennsylvania and who hold a learner's permit, can be examined at nine a. m. Tuesday when the State Motor police conduct examinations in Sampson street.

The candidates will be given tests in order of arrival at the sub-station.

They must have the learner's permit signed in ink, be accompanied by a licensed operator and possess the registration card for the vehicle to be driven in the test. The licensed operator also must have his card signed in ink.

The car must be in good working order and possess tires safe for driving.

Almost as many failed last Tuesday as passed. This was due to various causes. One cause given was that learners who had only a day or two previously received a learner's permit, went to the station without being prepared to drive safely and also failed to learn the motor laws of the state.

If a person practices driving with a licensed operator and makes a real effort to learn the motor laws he or she usually passes. However, some believe, according to the motor police that they might "skim through" and win a license. Such rarely occurs because the motor police examiners are trying conscientiously to make highways safe.

Explosion Kills

(International News Service)

SITKA, Alaska, Oct. 13—With six men dead, many persons injured and damage running into thousands of dollars, Naval investigators today hunted through mounds of wreckage for the cause of the explosion of more than 40,000 pounds of dynamite in a "uterranean magazine at the Sitka Naval air station.

Unofficially it was reported that flames from a grass fire had ignited the explosives, and that the men killed had been operating a fire engine.

State Fire Towers
May See Service
In Defense Plans

(Special To The News)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 13—Secretary G. Albert Stewart, of the Department of Forests and Waters, announced today that the 145 forest fire observation towers in Pennsylvania have been made available to the U. S. Aircraft Warning Service in connection with the National Defense program.

These towers are distributed throughout the state at strategic points on high mountains. The exact location together with local names are shown on maps which have been forwarded to the office of the Interceptor Commander at Mitchell Field, New York.

Each towerman will be given a special training with respect to reporting by telephone or radio, any airplanes that he may see or hear near his tower. The main purpose of this training, at the present time, is to be ready should an emergency arise.

The forest fire observation towers are of steel construction, sixty to eighty feet in height, and are connected by special telephone lines with the headquarters of District Foresters and Forest Rangers. Many of them are used as landmarks by aviators and on some of them, beacon lights have been placed so that they can be located at night. The Negro Mountain tower in Somerset county has a ground elevation of 3,190 feet.

NEW CASTLE HIGH DEFEATS M'KEESPORT 19 TO 6

Aerial Attack Is Undoing Of Tigers

New Castle High "Red Hurricane" Hangs Up Sixth Win Of Season And Nineteenth In Row Without Defeat At McKeesport; Bobby Lee And Tommy Parou Are Standouts; Berletic Thrills Fans With 76 Yard Run For Score In First Period; Crowd Of 4,000 See Game.

EMPLOYING a deadly passing attack spearheaded by the talented young triple-threat man, Robert E. "General" Lee, colored left-halfback, a hard fighting New Castle High "Red Hurricane" football machine fought back a 6 to 0 lead gained by the McKeesport Tigers Saturday afternoon at McKeesport and went on to win 19 to 6 in an impressive fashion.

It was the sixth straight win of the current season for the New Castle team and the nineteenth without a defeat since back in 1939. Sharing honors with Lee was the captain for the day—Tommy Parou, right-end. It was this young man who recovered a McKeesport fumble to set up the second touchdown and then scored on a pass from Lee from the McKeesport 35-yard line.

Berletic Thrills Fans
The 4,000 fans, many from New Castle, who sat under a perfect autumn day and witnessed the schoolboys in their Class AA battle, were electrified midway in the first period when Pete Berletic, the Tiger left-half broke loose from his own 24-yard line and outraced the New Castle team as he sped down the field for the Tigers only tally. The Tigers had gained the ball on their own 24 on downs, from the locals. New Castle had begun the march from their own 29 after taking the ball on downs.

The New Castle team—heavy pregame favorites—was stunned by the brilliant run that Berletic made, it being the first time this season that New Castle had been behind in the first five games. The Bridenbaugh machine quickly reorganized and began to plan methods of getting that score back again.

McKeesport following the touchdown kicked off to New Castle, the ball going over the goal line and being brought out to the 20. After three New Castle plays netted but four yards Lee booted to the Tigers on the New Castle 49-yard line. When the first period ended the McKeesport team had the ball on the New Castle 40, suffering two five-yard penalties after taking Lee's kick.

Bobby Lee Scores
McKeesport at the start of the second period rushed the ball to the New Castle 34 and it looked like they were headed for the pay-dirt again, but Tommy Parou put a stop to this attempt by scooping up a Tiger fumble by Pausic on the New Castle 38-yard line.

In possession of the ball now, the New Castle team began a sustained steady march down the field, with Lee on one play passing to Parou for a 32-yard advance to the McKeesport 34-yard line. Lee passed again to Parou good for a first-down on the Tiger 24-yard line. Lee passed again this time to Zubkowsky and it was a first down on the Tiger 10-yard line.

The New Castle linemen from end to end played fine football despite the fact that the Tigers had a pull in the weights of about 5 to 10 pounds per-man. McKeesport also had a fine line and with more experience will go place, most of the boys being new this year. A recapitulation shows that Bobby Lee tossed a total of 17 passes and made good on 9 of them. One being intercepted. This being not a bad average. The Tigers tossed nine passes and completed two. One being intercepted.

Picking out a Tiger standout, you must naturally take Pete Berletic and Gene Pausic, these two huskies tipping of several nice gains. On the line the play of Liptak and Luty, two veterans from last year stood out. So did the play of Lawson the left-end.

The Washington High "Little Presidents" will play New Castle a Class AA game at Taggart Stadium next Friday night.

Moose Club Wins City Championship

Defeat West Pittsburgh "Gas House" Team 17 To 6 On Sunday

Monk Rainey Winning Hurler, Will Hold Testimonial Dinner

The 1941 City league baseball season came to an official end at Marshall field late Sunday afternoon with the Moose club winning the championship by a score of 17 to 6 over the West Pittsburgh "Gas House" team before a crowd of close to 3,000 fans.

Monk Rainey did the Moose pitching and gave nine hits, being in serious trouble in only one inning, the third, after which he did not allow the "Gas House" wrecking crew a run. It was one of the best games that the popular Seventh Ward boy has pitched all season and it came at the right time.

Walks In Six Runs
Manager Denny DeGenna started Mike Marky on the hill and he got by the first inning like a big leaguer, holding the Moose scoreless, but something happened to Marky's control in the second inning, he was wider than a citizen in the income tax office and walked in five runs before "Tut" Cionni got the signal to take the mound. Altogether the Moose chalked up six runs on walks, Cionni granting one free run before retiring the side.

West Pittsburgh tied the game up in the last of the third with three runs, but the Moose came back in the first of the fourth to rally three runs and take the lead that was never to be surrendered. Four more runs in the sixth and three in the eighth made a rout of the game and gave the Moose club its first championship baseball team in many years.

Manager Fitz Rodenbach is being congratulated on all sides today and so are the members of the Moose team who played headsup ball all the way in the current series and also against the Elders to get into the finals in the Shaughnessy playoff.

Leading the Moose champions at bat were Hahn and Annarella in there with three hits apiece and Smiley, Guinagh, Razzano and Rainey with two hits apiece.

Titans At Home
Westminster college, which has performed solely on foreign soil thus far this season, makes its home debut against Geneva college, Saturday afternoon. The game looms as one of the classics engagements on the Titan schedule.

New Castle high's "Hurricane" moving long in high gear, faces Washington high across the chalk lines of Taggart stadium, Friday evening, in a Class AA WPIAL tussle.

Elwood City high, whose record is marred by a scoreless tie with Butler, goes into action against Midland, high Friday evening on Lincoln field, Elwood City.

In the Class B sector, Bessemer plays host to Sharpsburg, Friday afternoon, while Zellenople faces Union Township on Scotland Lane field. Shenango Township is booked to meet Mars. A schedule mixup, however, has come to light. Coaches of both schools are endeavoring to settle the matter.

Farrell-Franklin Are Playing Today
The undefeated but tied Franklin high football team is playing the Farrell Junior High team at Taggart stadium this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

Titan Gridders Trip Hiram, 20-0

Riggle, Wilson And Joe Demoise Score Touchdowns For Westminster

PLAYS HOME GAME NEXT SATURDAY

(Special To The News)
HIRAM, Oct. 13.—Westminster college's blue and white jerseyed gridsters played well as they piled up a 20-0 victory over Hiram here on Saturday afternoon.

In the opening period, the Lawrence countians pushed their way to the 1-yard stripe. Riggle, Titan fullback, plunged over for the first touchdown. Newton's pass into the waiting arms of Murphy, right halfback, gave Westminster its seventh marker.

Pass Hits Mark
Westminster carried the oval to the Hiram 40 in the second chuck-ker. Wheeling back, Joe Demoise uncoiled a true pass to Jim Wilson who stepped into pay soil. Demoise split the uprigths for the fourteenth point.

After being held scoreless in the third stanza, the winners started another drive in the fourth period. The Titans reached the mid stripe. Mastro flipped to Hamilton for 10 yards. Following a five-yard off-side penalty, Mastro faked back and fired an aerial to Demoise for the final score.

Westminster plays its opening home game of the season on Saturday, meeting Geneva college. The lineup:

Cochrane May Not Battle Robinson
NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—A proposed non-title fight between welter-weight Champion Freddie Cochrane and Ray Robinson, scheduled for Madison Square Garden Oct. 31, today faced cancellation with announcement by Cochrane that unless the recent suspension of his manager by the boxing commission lifted he will not go through with the match.

Manager Bill Gilzenberg was barred by the commission as an aftermath to Cochrane's recent victory over Lightweight Champion Lew Jenkins, the charge being that the manager was responsible for Cochrane's coasting in the late rounds after he had Jenkins whipped.

SURPRISE WIN
Marquette's trouncing of Wisconsin was easily one of the major upsets of the current season. The new coach, Tom Stidham, former Oklahoma coach, was supposedly stepping into a job that looked hopeless. Marquette, minus stand-out material, was a smooth working unit that set up the first major reversal.

New Castle Crowd Is Pleased At Treatment Given In McKeesport

There's something more to a football game besides the four periods of battling down on the gridiron. There's the little matter of courtesy to the visitor: from the opposing team's city, and in this respect McKeesport did a job Saturday that New Castle fans will remember with pleasure.

In the realm of football McKeesport isn't in the running for the WPIAL crown. But in the matter of courtesy to visitors, they already have the WPIAL title in our book. School official, city official and private citizen, they were all the same, courteous, helpful and friendly and we left the city hoping that football relations between McKeesport and New Castle will continue for a long time.

Beautiful Layout
McKeesport has the most picturesque high school layout in the state. The school itself is a beautiful structure of yellow brick set on the edge of a young mountain, overlooking a deep valley. From the school windows one gets a view of another mountainous hill far across the valley, perched atop of which is a row of houses looking much like the teeth of a comb.

The football gridiron is directly below the school, with the stadium seats acting as a sort of retaining wall for the school lot. Of necessity the stands are steeply pitched and the gridiron comes within a few yards of the seats, again of necessity for the contour of the shelf on which the grid is laid out. curvy back until on the eastern end the foul line is on the brink of the precipice.

About 4000 Present
The possibilities for a complete stadium are unlimited for the field might easily be termed the Stadium in the Clouds. Kicking for the conversion on the west end of the field a heavy toed booter is just liable to drop the ball down the mountain side. At present there are seats only on the south side of the field seating about 4000. Any McKeesport fans who stayed away missed a football game that was star studded with features. A 76-yard run by a young gentleman named Berletic, some passes by Lee that looked like the work of Sammy Baugh, some line fighting that looked like the battle of the Argonne and finally a touchdown just as the referee was ready to whistle the game off.

It was a game, friends, and neighbors, a rough game that saw a number of injuries but no serious ones. It was a game in a city that knows how to play host in a gracious fashion and if McKeesport comes here next year, we will sincerely hope they will, you might keep this in mind. We owe them a debt of courtesy.
